Posted on May 13, 2019 by jcb Summary of Skills C++(decade) Haskell(7 years) C#, JavaScript, Lua, PHP, Python(5 years) Work Experience Wrote tooling that interactively synthesizes Haskell code. Wingman saves Haskell developers roughly 20 minutes of programming per day. Led a team of four to reimplement a core subcomponent of the product - increased the cadence of new feature development from months to days. Directed a team of three to implement a high-throughput, low-latency brokered streaming library. Resulting library is slated to become the company's core interservice communication protocol. Led the architectural design effort of a user-defined permission model for the cloud - the team's only project for the next quarter. Took ownership over an unmaintained, service-critical internal compiler; improved compile times by 96% and test coverage by 65%. Analyzed the advertising platform's spending behaviors and subsequently implemented algorithmic changes resulting in a 0.5% revenue increase. Parallelized the backend graph ranker, resulting in site-wide response time gains of 0.4%. Publications algebradriven.design How to discover leak-free abstractions, and to automatically derive implementations. thinkingwithtypes.com Take yourself from a competent programmer to one whose compiler does the work for you. reasonablypolymorphic.com/book/preface.html A technical and philosophical journey into how computers work, starting from first principles. Formal Education Bachelor of Software Engineering, University of Waterloo, ON Adaptive Search - stochastic means of approximating global maxima for chaotic functions Compilers - resulting Java compiler was most correct from class of 50 students Networking - socket programming; robust protocol design; routing principles Numerical Computation - computational error correction; solving differential equations Miscellany music, functional programming, compilers, robotics, skateboarding, electronics, math pedagogy
